Nanyima Residential Aged Care

Manager's View

On 22 October 2022, we are holding our AGM onsite, anyone is welcome to attend. In the last couple of years, AGMs were held offsite due to COVID-19 pandemic imposed gathering restrictions. It is good to have some normality come back for Nanyima Care.

The Government is implementing a massive aged care reform agenda. Here are the five key reforms that will affect aged care providers in October to December 2022:

- Aged Care Funding: AN-ACC to Replace ACFI – Commences 1 October 2022. We are to ensure that we follow the transitional arrangements that the Department of Health and Aged Care has implemented over the course of this year to help aged care providers shift from ACFI to AN-ACC.
  - Quarterly Financial Report (QFR) Obligations (Including Food and Nutrition Reporting) four times during the financial year – Due 4 November 2022. We are now required to submit the new QFR in addition to our other reporting obligations. Via QFR, we must report:
    - Answers to the viability and prudential compliance questions
    - Quarterly financial statements, at the approved provider level
    - Residential care labour cost and hours, at the facility level
    - Quarterly food and nutrition report for each approved provider service
  - New Code of Conduct and Banning Orders – Commences 1 December 2022. This reform requires aged care providers to comply with a new Code of Conduct. It will also give the Aged Care Quality and Safety Commissioner power to take action in relation to compliance with, and enforcement of, the Code of Conduct, including the power to ban a person from working as an aged care provider or aged care worker. This reform is expected to commence on 1 December 2022. As at 26 September 2022, the new Code has not been issued. The Department of Health and Aged Care and the Aged Care Quality and Safety Commission have indicated that they will provide more guidance on this reform soon.
  - New Governance Responsibilities – Commences partially 1 December 2022 and partially 1 December 2023. Under this reform, we will be required to:
    - Meet reporting requirements for material changes
    - Assess the suitability of our key personnel at least once a yearReport annually on our operations
- By 1 December 2023, we are required to meet the following additional requirements:
- * Ensure that our governing body has a majority of independent non-executive members with the skills and experience to deliver safe and high quality, and at least one member has experience in providing clinical care
  - * Establish and continue a quality advisory body
  - * Offer consumers and their representatives the opportunity to establish one or more consumer advisory bodies (every 12 months)
- Star Ratings and Publication of Aged Care Providers' Information – Commences late 2022. This reform introduces a new requirement for the Secretary of the Department of Health and Aged Care to evaluate an aged care providers' performance, allocate them a "star rating" and then publish this rating. Residential aged care services will be given an overall star rating, as well as a rating against four sub-categories:
  - five quality indicators
  - service compliance ratings
  - consumer experience

This reform requires the Secretary of the Department of Health and Aged Care to publish information relating to aged care services. This reform also empowers the Minister to tell the Secretary what kind of information should be published. This reform does not directly affect aged care providers and does not require providers to collect or disclose information. However, providers should expect that in the near future the Department of Health and Aged Care will use the powers granted by this reform to publish information about aged care providers such as:

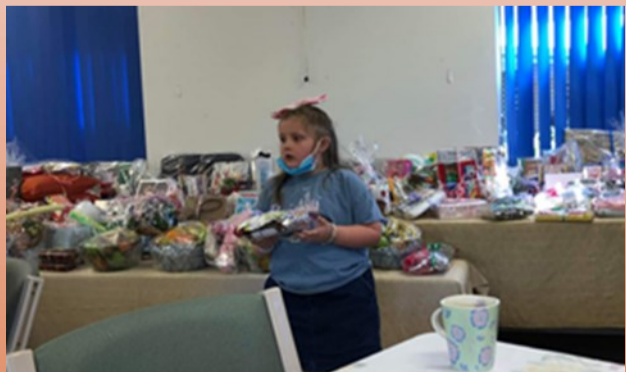

- financial information
- amounts of care time provided
- details of key personnel; and/or
- information about the staffing of an aged care service.

So much is happening only in the first stages of a massive aged care reform agenda for change that will unfold over the next few years. More on that in the next coming months.

Resident and Families Meeting was held on the 7th of September, followed by a lovely Hi Tea in the courtyard. Thank you to all residents and Family members for attending, made it such a lovely morning. Plus it was the first meeting I have chaired so I hope I did ok.

While the weather is nice at the moment, we have been having BBQ lunches in the courtyard once a month. The start of the morning listening to music from Gerry McCann, who got us all singing and dancing.

Golden Years was our first outing for September at the Seniors Hall In Mackay, we were provided with a yummy morning tea, entertainment, mini cent sale, and a few games of bingo.

A big Thank You to the Pioneer River Orchid and Plant Association for bringing their most beautiful orchids and plants to display at Nanyima and demonstrating repotting orchids by Peter and how to strike begonias by Merv. Peter and Merv donated an orchid which we used for the lucky door prize for the cent sale and Merv a begonia for the cent sale.

Zoe won the Cent sale raffle— hope you had a win on the scratches. Shirley Genrich won the Lucky Door Prize and Michelle Cook won the Snap Raffle. We couldn't have done it without the hard work of our volunteers, residents, family staff and donations from the community. We raised $ 1067 so thank you to everyone who took part in helping us achieve this.

Our adult art mornings, we held our own paint and sip. Residents may become the next Picasso.
